Wainwright Tells Of His Final Days At Tarlac Prison

National Anthem Bolsters Spirits of Captives, and They Hear Exciting News of Operations in the Solomons

The sound of the National Anthem, under the pallid circumstances of capture, made lighter the burden he was carrying, General Wainwright reveals today in the 28th article of his series. He tells in detail, too, of his last days at Tarlac prison and how exciting news about operations in the Solomons.—EDITOR.

By GENERAL JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

(Copyright 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Our days at Tarlac prison camp wandered aimlessly into August, 1942. On the 7th of that month we received one of our rare visits from the Jap lieutenant in nominal charge of our camp. He confronted us during our evening roll call, accepted our salutes or bows, and using Col. Robert Hoffman as an interpreter, told us that we would leave Tarlac and be sent either to Formosa or Japan proper within the next few days.

I walked alone through the little prison yard that night, feeling blue but I had felt throughout my captivity. I was positive that Gen. MacArthur would lead me back to the Philippines as soon as he humanely could, and liberate us. I had even put down a date of liberation in my diary: "... by December 31, 1945."

That was 17 months away, at this time, but at least it was a date and I made myself believe in it, though I had no word from the outside world as to the progress of the war either in Europe or the Pacific. But, as I say, it was a date... flimsy, but something to hold to, something to pin my faith to. One grasps at such straws.

BUT NOW WE HAD BEEN told that we were being sent to Formosa or Japan. We were moved away from the direction in which our troops must one day come. Our sentries were being transferred indefinitely. I asked this over with Brig. Gen. Lewis Beebe that night, and he felt the same wave of frustration which had settled over me. In our last days at Tarlac we bought everything we could find to buy, not knowing what kind of conditions we would face at our new prison camp. Our haul consisted mainly of Filipino cigars and sarabao soap.

Two days before we left Tarlac we were warned that we could take only such baggage as we could carry. We packed as we could, and carried what we could. We carried our baggage, or wrapped them in bundles, and put the messengers in Col. Robert Pugh's foot locker, a common carrier's bag.

BUT THE JAPS HAD A characteristic which prompts you to prepare yourself for one thing and then instruct you for another. After we had carefully packed and packed our belongings and were certain that we were able to carry them (we were prepared, I believe, to abandon Pugh's truck), we were told that we could take as much as we wanted. Our foot lockers would be provided.

We were fed a very early breakfast on the morning of August 15, 1942, after which we were made to clean and polish our uniforms and latrine and jack. At about 7 a.m. when this task was completed, we were formed in a column and marched down with more than we had planned to carry. Our foot lockers and our baggage were piled up and marched to the Tarlac railroad station.

WE WERE PROBABLY a little late, looking lost, hardly a "Bataan" march, but certainly a parade of the vanquished. Because of the weight on our backs it was impossible to present any military bearing, any real sense of our remaining dignity as officers and men.

So we just slumped along the road toward a station of 100 feet, a remarkable thing happened to us. Humiliatingly, unbelievably, we became aware that someone was whispering... "whispering the 'Star Spangled Banner'."

I looked at the faces of the men around me in the line of march. They too had heard, and were finding it a stirring incongruity in this setting. But none was whispering.

AND THEN WE discovered the whistler. It was a ragged little Filipino boy, 10 or 12 years old, standing at the side of the road. The Jap guard walked menacingly close to the kid, but he never missed a note, never faltered, until the whole line had passed.

I think we must have walked a little stranger, a little braver, the rest of the way to the railroad station. We were aboard the train and en route to Manila before 8 a.m., going through land so familiar that we expected momentarily to recognize friends. And, indeed, we did. The train passed at a little station named Dan, which is just five miles east of my old Fort Benning.

And there on the platform Maj. Gen. Edward P. King and I saw a Filipino lad who had worked for us. He was the son of a cook. Both father and son were glad to see me. The day the Jap bombers came over Benning and bombarded nearby Clark Field, both incidentally, fell on the back door of my house that day, leaving the old Filipino man Pedro to bring me the beer I ordered during the day. They did not return for two days after the raid.

But I was glad to see the lad and so was Gen. King. King generously took all the Philippine money he had in his pockets and presented it in the boy's hand, telling him to share it with his father.

THE TRAIN MOVED on and we arrived in Manila at 11 p.m. We were piled into trucks and, to my astonishment, I saw that the driver of one truck was an American soldier. We were heavily guarded, but he had some whispered news that

Sees Former Glory

Hess Fails Recognize Self at Fame's Height

NIERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Rudolf Hess, the No. 3 Nazi until his unexplained airplane flight to Britain at the height of the war, sat in the gloom of a projection room yesterday and watched newsreels of himself during the days of his greatest power.

ALSO IN THE AUDIENCE, but watching Hess instead of the flickers, were Justice Robert Jackson, United States prosecutor for the coming war crimes trial; Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, head of the United States office of strategic services; and physicians. Hess is one of the ranking Nazis facing trial.

The beetle-browed Nazi, who asserts he can remember nothing, was seated next to a 1934 version of "Party Day in Nuremberg" flashed on the screen.

SPECIAL-PLACED LIGHTS faintly illuminated the countenance. As the picture started with a rich background of Wagnerian music, Hess leaned forward and half rose from his chair. All eyes were on him.

He saw himself as a younger man, a swart wearing a hypnotic spell over a vast Nazi Party Congress. For in those days, he was Hitler's deputy. He saw the Fuehrer practically dancing a jig in an ecstasy of appreciation as the Hess of the screen made a three-quarter swing to the audience, crying: "Sig Heil, Sig Heil!"

THE OFFICIALS WONDERED whether the filmed document of a vanished glory would shake from Hess the amnesia which he declares has robbed him of all knowledge of past events.

The outcome might determine whether Hess is to live or die. Once his initial tension passed, Hess showed an impressive countenance to the observers throughout the screening.

COURTESY, YOU SEE, forbade his handing the package to me, for the Japs believe it is bad form for a general officer to carry any sort of burden, even one as precious as those American cigarettes. The fact that at the moment I had a heavy pack on my back made no difference to Kurokawa.

The other visitor was a grinning Jap general who sought me out and engaged me in conversation. It was from him that I learned that we were being taken to Kurekko, on Formosa, not to Japan.

AS WAS AT KAREKKO recently, the Jap general, named "You will find it a very beautiful place. Lots of food, fish, fruit, meat and sugar. A very fertile country. There's a fine bathing beach nearby and I'm sure you'll be permitted to swim. Yes, you'll like Kurekko."

With those words of his in mind (and I was to think of them many times later) I boarded the Suiako tomorrow. The trip to "beautiful" Kurekko.

Says No Threat Packers' Strike

WINNIPEG, Nov. 9.—(AP)—Adam Borak, field representative, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO) yesterday cleared the way for the Manitoba Regional Labor Board to hear packinghouse workers' application for increased wages under an agreement negotiated with Canada Packers, Swift Canadian and Burns and Company.

In a letter to W. Elliot Wilson, chief executive officer of the board, the union official declared the earlier report that a strike threat still hovers over the industry and its 12,000 workers.

"ANYTHING THE BOARD does to expedite the matter will be appreciated," said Mr. Borak. "I will personally do anything possible to maintain the harmonious relationships, and recommend acceptance of this agreement."

The board procedure is that it cannot hear an application for wage adjustments in any industry where a strike threat exists.

Mr. Wilson made the letter public Thursday and said it would remove an obstacle to the proposed hearing. Details of the agreement, negotiated under the chairmanship of

"Beast of Belsen" Is Said Victim Of Circumstances

LUENBURG, Germany, Nov. 9.—(Reuters)—Josef Kramer, former commander of the notorious Belsen and Oswine concentration camps, was pictured yesterday as the "victim of circumstances" as defense counsel began final plea in the Belsen horror camp trial, now in its 46th day.

Maj. T. Wislowski said: "Kramer had nothing to do with the victims at Oswine, and only obeyed orders. At Belsen he was the victim of circumstances."

He pleaded also for acquittal of Fritz Klein, the camp doctor, Peter Weingartner and Georg Kraft, among the 45 men and women employed at the two camps who are charged with war crimes.

COUPLE MARRIED TEXAS-STYLE WITH ALL THE TRIMMINGS—The horseback wedding of June Fountain, Toronto, and Taylor Tuck, Texas cowboy, was solemnized in Woodbridge, Ont., without a hitch. In above photo cowboy groom puts the ring on his bride's finger. "Down in Texas," said he, "no cowboy would think of getting married except on horseback. The right girl and the right horse spell good luck." The wedding party was on horseback. Forty well-wishers sat on a hay rig during the ceremony. The bride was followed by 14 horses and only the minister was on foot. The couple met three weeks ago at a ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Tuck will travel to Texas—by automobile, partner.

HEADED FOR STARDOM—The door has it, but there's no hat. Rita Corday, a new face on the HNO lot, is the main reason.

REDEMPTORISTS BUILD $60,000 MONASTERY-CHURCH IN NORTHERN WILDS
Sports, directed by Fernand Sarazin, is part of the progressive program of the Redemptorists in Devonshire, Ont., a parish of 54 Catholic families.

GREATFUL FOR UNCLE SAM'S HOSPITALITY—These eleven Winnipeg Grenadiers who arrived in Vancouver late Friday evening were full of praise for the treatment accorded them by the U.S. Army since they were liberated from Jap prison camps. The men were given a varied assortment of American uniforms, flown across the Pacific to San Francisco, and given a royal reception in the States. Before continuing their journey home they will be outfitted in Canadian battledress at the Little Mountain army depot in Vancouver. Pictured here, from left to right (front row) are Pte. W. Slowinski, Winnipeg; Pte. W. D. Innes, Kenton, Man.; Pte. T. Mulvaney, Winnipeg; Pte. R. E. Bronson, Dawson Creek, B.C.; Cpl. J. R. McGavin, Winnipeg; (back row) Pte. W. H. Savage, Beaconsfield, Man.; Pte. L. W. Miller, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Pte. W. C. Nicholson, Winnipeg; L-Cpl. J. C. Matheson, Winnipeg; Pte. G. Clark, Carman, Man.; and Pte. A. C. Carter, Winnipeg.

CHARGED WITH MURDER—Donald J. Cook, 18, is charged in Kingston with the murder of his pal, Morton Stein, 16, last May. Police say Cook, arrested in New Orleans last week, has confessed he stabbed Stein and left the body in a hotel room with a "Do Not Disturb" sign on the door. Cook claimed Stein attacked him with a knife and blackjack.

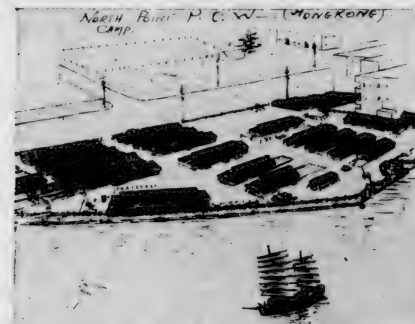

NIAGARA FALLS BOY, 11, WINS FIRST PRIZE IN ART SHOW
Since he was five, Jimmy Miller, 11, of Niagara Falls, Ont., has been using his spare time to sketch, draw and paint. His sister, Myra, a champion swimmer, is his pretty model.

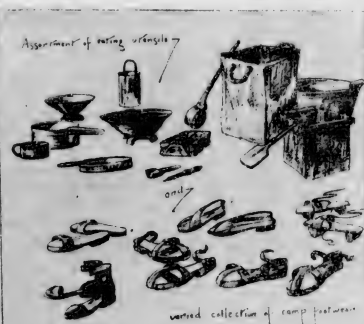

POLICE AND PICKETS IN BATTLE—Los Angeles police and film strikers at Warner Bros. Hollywood studio mix it up when police attempted to break up a "sit down" at Warner's entrance. Some violence occurred as film star Eric Johnston addressed a conference with union leaders in an effort to end the 10-month jurisdictional dispute.

"TOKYO ROSE" KEPT FROM FREEDOM BEHIND BARS—Days of bloom are over for Iva Toguri, the 29-year-old Los Angeles-born "Tokyo Rose," who broadcast propaganda for the Japs during the war. Forfeited she peers through Japs' prison bars awaiting trial for treason against the U.S.

JAP PRISON CAMP—These remarkable pen and ink drawings of the North Point Jap prison camp at Hong Kong were sketched by Sgt. J. Payne and given to Lt.-Capt. Uriah Laite, beloved captain of the Winnipeg Grenadiers. Sgt. Payne is now missing and believed to have been executed by the Japs following an attempted escape in August, 1942. This cooking and eating utensils show the ingenuity of Canadians in trying to improve living conditions under their imprisonment. (Note the herring tin used as a sauce pan).

Reach No Agreement Move for Distinctive Flag Sparks Debate in Commons

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—(CP)—The contentious issue of a distinctive Canadian flag, a problem child of this growing Dominion for decades, produced warm debate in the Commons last night as the house discussed a government motion to establish a special committee

TANGERINE QUEEN.—Janet Rina Crockett, St. Peterburg High school student, was crowned queen of Florida's tangerine festival before a crowd of 5,000. She won the title over 59 beauties.

more—the isn't going to be very happy, and neither are you, at the prospect of running off again for a few more months.

Under the circumstances the man decides the best thing for him to do is to spend the winter taking training of some kind so that he will be ready for the job every body hopes will be available next spring and summer. So he goes to look for a place to live.

HE FINDS that many landlords don't want returned men for tenants. If he has a family he finds that many more landlords won't rent to couples with children. So he either bunks with the in-laws or lives in a hotel or rooming house. Which is usually either most unsatisfactory or most expensive. Sometimes it is both unsatisfactory and expensive.

Then he goes down to see about training. Here again he is stumped. All the training establishments are overcrowded and opportunities of getting "training on the job" become more limited every day.

HE DOESN'T WORRY too much at first. On discharge he received one month's pay and allowances and an extra $100 to buy his civilian clothes. He finds that the $100 won't provide the bare essentials. But he doesn't worry too much yet because he has been told before leaving the service that his gratuity cheques will be along after 30 days. He had hoped to save the gratuity cheques to buy a home, or keep as a nest egg, or to make other dreams come true—but if he has to live on them he will.

At the end of 30 days the gratuity cheques still haven't arrived. At the end of 60 days they still haven't started to come in. He has been broke for a month or more and is probably in debt to somebody. So he goes to the department of veterans affairs and finds out how he can draw "outdoor" benefits. He is still waiting for his gratuity. If he is lucky they turn up about the end of the third month.

WITH GRATUITIES he can pay off his debts and with his "outdoor" benefits—$30 monthly if he is single, $70 if he is married—he gets by. When spring comes the gratuities are all gone. He hasn't got his training. He hasn't got his home. He hasn't got a job. He has become so used to loafing around as a civilian, he isn't going to care much if he gets a job or not. He probably has become just a little bitter. He wonders—often not loud—just why he was sucker enough to join the service. He has learned that you can't eat glory and that medal ribbons won't pay the rent.

We aren't complaining—but we are pointing all this out in the hope that you'll do all you possibly can to see that this doesn't happen to anybody you know.

Gets 12 Years Fatal Beating Of Tiny Child

MILTON, Ont., Nov. 9.—(CP)—Wilfred Emil Girouard, a former Montreal policeman, was convicted yesterday on a reduced charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of three-year-old Caroline Fay Giffels at Bronte June 1. He was sentenced to 12 years in penitentiary.

The Crown had charged Girouard murdered the child with beatings while living with his mother. Girouard admitted in testimony that he had struck Caroline "perhaps once or twice a week" with a razor strap as punishment but maintained the child suffered her fatal injuries in a fall downstairs.

Canadian-Indian Trade Expected

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—(CP)—Development of a prosperous and thriving trade between Canada and India within a year was predicted yesterday by C. Gordon Gosney of Toronto on his return from India where he surveyed markets for Canadian goods on behalf of eight Canadian manufacturers.
